

Christiane Haerlin

Responsible Leadership

The Organization „Lebenswelten e.V.“ in Berlin has a number of social firms and is one of the oldest social firms in Germany, dating back to 1985. It has developed continuously and as a successful firm is meeting today's requirements of the market.

In this workshop we will show a video and explain in which way an ethical approach for employers and employees aims at a balance between economic and social needs.

The basis is the CEFEC definition of a Social Firm and we will discuss how the existing legislation as well as an approach of fair information and transparency, worker's participation and psychosocial care can be put into practice in a positive work milieu.